People often ask me how a small-town kid from Glennville, Georgia, ... could win three Super Bowls and at one time own all the significant receiving records for a tight end.

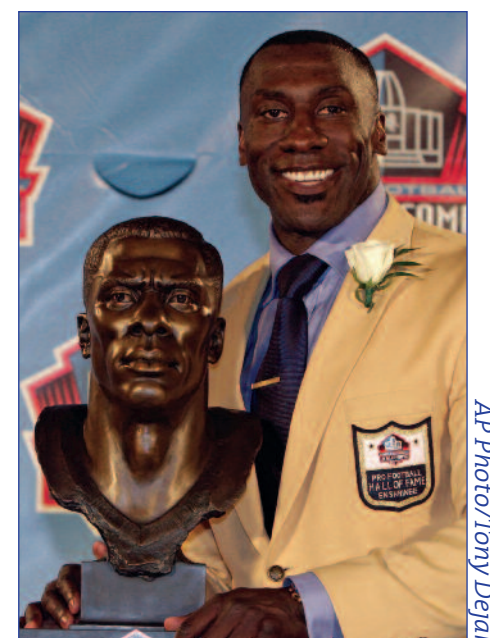

I want all you young people out there to listen to my answer. It's called the three D's:

Determination Dedication and Discipline.

Three traits that translate in any generation, in any job setting. There's a reason they call it "chasing your dreams" and not "walking after them."

Don't hope someone gives you an opportunity.
Create one for yourself.
